【You must bring your Specified Residence Card to the Consultation Session】

Visit the official homepage of the Immigration Services Agency to learn how you can apply for a Specified Residence Card.

【You must meet the Specified Residence Card application deadline in order to receive the card in time for the Consultation Session】

The time it takes to issue the Specified Residence Card depends on how you apply for the card.

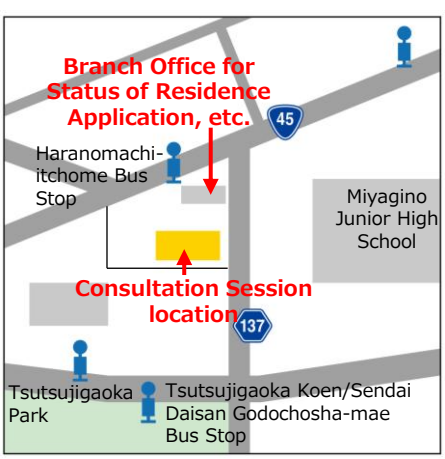

①If you apply for a Specified Residence Card by exchanging for your regular residence card or by applying for a Specified Residence Card at the same time you are applying for "Notification of Change," you must apply by December 25 (Fri.), 2026 to the Sendai Regional Immigration Services Bureau in order to receive your Specified Residence Card in time for the Consultation Session.

②If you apply for a Specified Residence Card at the same time you are applying for an extended period of stay, change in status of residence, permanent residence, etc., it may take several months for your card to be issued. Please understand that depending on the day you apply, your card may not be issued during the dates of the Consultation Session.

※ If the paperwork submitted is insufficient, you may not receive your card in time for the Consultation Session even if you applied by the deadline due to insufficient paperwork.
